MVRDV is a global operating architecture and urbanism office with a progressive ideal engaged in solving global issues. MVRDV was set up in Rotterdam in 1993 by Winy Maas (Schijndel, 1959), Jacob van Rijs (Amsterdam, 1964) and Nathalie de Vries (Appingedam, 1965). In close collaboration, the 3 principal architect directors produce designs and studies in the fields of architecture, urbanism and landscape design. The more than 90 architects and designers of MVRDV are organized into teams in which the different fields and scales of the projects are reflected.

'Glass House' is a set test bricks for the façade of the miraculous 'Glass House' that in the PC Hoofdstraat in Amsterdam. The lower part of the façade of the building, that is home to the Chanel shop is constructed for 100% of solid glass: glass bricks, glass window frames, glass glass etc.

Cityscapes Gallery is proud to include 'Glass House' in the Cityscapes Selection: a wonderful, minimalist sculpture and a unique piece of '1:1 Architecture' by international renown architects MVRDV.
